Dear Andrew,

UCA named Modern University of the Year

I am thrilled to announce that The University for the Creative Arts (UCA) has been named 'Modern University of the Year 2019' in the Times and Sunday Times Good University Guide, announced today Friday 21 September.

Rising 25 places, we have secured the joint highest ranking ever achieved by a modern university. At 33rd, it has also seen the biggest rise of any university in the elite top 40 and confirmed our place as the country's No. 1 specialist creative institution.

The Modern University of the Year title was awarded to UCA for the ground-breaking work that we are doing through our Business School for the Creative Industries, in addition to our excellent graduate employment record and levels of student satisfaction. We are also currently the UK's No. 1 Specialist Creative University for Employment of Graduates (96.9%)*

This accolade recognises the quality of teaching, the opportunities available to students, and the pioneering work being done to establish UCA as the top specialist institution in the country.

As one of our Creative Business Partners we are hugely excited about the opportunities that this achievement affords our wider UCA community in supporting and enhancing our thriving creative industries.

I look forward to talking to you about this in person at some point during the year or at our Thrive Creative Careers Conference on 17 October at the Business School for the Creative Industries, Epsom. This event is bookable at uca.ac.uk/thrive.

Very warm wishes,

Bashir Makhoul
Vice Chancellor
